MARTY WILSON

Move your people beyond resilience into restart, relaunch and rejuvenation

STRATEGIC EVOLUTION

Are your people feeling rudderless and depleted after two years of relentless change?

Are your teams completely exhausted and desperately needing a boost?

Is your workforce resisting - or even refusing! - the move back into head office?

It's time to move through “coping and moping”, and deliberately evolve into something EVEN BETTER.

When our lives are sideswiped by injury or illness, some people curl up in a ball and just "get by". But those who recover best leap into programs to regain strength, learn new abilities and design a bright new future - often far better than their past.

It's the same in business: After two long years we can't keep waiting for "someone else" to wave a magic wand (or vaccination syringe!) and make it all better. We have to take back control, build on the past and create a new way to do business with new skills and a new attitude.

It's time to shrug off the cloak of COVID. Forget resilience, it’s time for restart, relaunch and rejuvenation.

Let’s get your business back to business.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- FORWARD FOCUS: Stop pining for a return to the old ways. When you refuse to change you don't hold onto the past you just lose the future.
- ACCEPT ADVERSITY: Hard times are part of life, so dive in and grow the grit needed to “do pain well”. If you can't get out of it , then you gotta get into it.
- OUTLINE THE OUTCOME: A deep commitment to a powerful vision of where you want to get to will keep your whole team willing to knuckle down through the inevitable ups and downs - You wanna reach the stars you gonna get some scars.
- LIFELONG LEARNING: Look back and learn from the ways you bounced back from hardship before. You didn't come this far to ONLY come this far.
- EXPECT ERRORS: Any time you EVER do ANYTHING new you do it really, really badly for a while. So we need to be okay with really dumb mistakes. Your first one will be your worst one. And that's okay…
- LET GO OF LAST TIME: It’s time to forget how we “used to do” things and design something bigger and better. “Because we’ve always done it that way is no reason to keep doing ANYTHING…"

RAVE REVIEWS

A dynamic and thought-provoking speaker. His content is thoroughly researched and built upon sharing the lives of many, which sets him apart from all others.

John Paul Pullicino, Global Brands, Pfizer

“Other speakers often approach change as a dry, abstract process, Marty teaches from a uniquely empathetic, deeply personal angle and was able to relate very well to our work environment.”

Jane Kittel, GM, Customer Experience, Westpac

A UNIQUE APPROACH

Marty Wilson is behaviour change specialist who is a third-generation pharmacist, a TEDx veteran and an “Australian Comedian of the Year.” This unlikely combination makes his programs more than a mere speech, but a memorable event. Marty’s high content programs are full of psychologically proven strategies, generously spiked with humour, that can implemented immediately.
